

Nazwa jednostki: Institute of the Americas and Europe, University of Warsaw

Nazwa stanowiska: PhD student or MA student - Scholarship

Wymagania:

Candidates must be currently enrolled as PhD students or MA students in humanities, in an institution of higher learning located in Poland.

Candidates should be fluent in both Polish and English. They must be able to read and write academic papers in English.

Shortlisted candidates may be interviewed.

Opis zadań:

1. Queer Theory in English and American Studies Publications in Poland

English and American studies has been an important route for queer theory's entry into Polish academia. Over the past two decades, a number of dissertations, book chapters, articles and monographs by scholars based in Poland and focusing on Anglophone literatures and other texts of culture have engaged with queer concepts; many of these writings have been in English rather than in Polish. The selected candidate will survey queer criticism on the Anglophone literary and cultural canon written by scholars in Poland. They will lay out the major theoretical influences, as well as the most glaring omissions, and discuss the reasons behind them. (WP B2)
